Recession—How Long?

The recession of 1974-75 could turn out to be record-breaking in more than one respect. When all the statistics are in, this recession may rank as not only the deepest recession of the post-World-War-II era, but also the shortest in duration.

The recent contraction in business activity already seems secure in its possession of the record for severity. The rate of capacity utilization has reached a new low, and the rate of unemployment has hit a new high.

A brief review of development in 1974 and 1975 is helpful in assessing the situation.

Throughout the first three quarters of last year the economy seemed to be moving sideways, rather than up or down. Industrial production wobbled up and down slightly during this nine-month period; but in September it stood almost exactly where it had stood in January.

During that same period two important industries, housing and automobiles, were obviously in trouble but this condition showed no signs of becoming generalized throughout the economy. In fact, some other important sectors (basic material-producing industries) showed signs of still being in a boom phase.

It would have been difficult, during the first three quarters of 1974, to describe the economy as being in a recession. Although the economy was clearly not in good health, there were none of the signs of the pervasive accelerating decline in production and employment that we usually regard as marking the onset of a general business contraction.

And then came October 1974. The rapidity and pervasiveness of the economic decline following that month has been startling. Between last October and April 1975, industrial production fell by 12.3 per cent. In this phase, virtually all sectors of the economy shared.

It is this sudden and rapid downward plunge, beginning in October 1974, that seems most properly definable as the recession. In character, it has been dominated by shifts in the patterns of business inventory accumulation or reduction.

What happened was that, through most of 1974, business was producing considerably more than it was selling and adding the difference to inventories.

This is obviously a process that can't continue indefinitely, and it ended late last year. Then in 1975, finding themselves with more inventories than they wanted, business firms began to sell goods off the shelves and thus production was considerably below sales. This too is obviously a process that can't go on very long and it is probably approaching its end.

The magnitudes involved in this shifting pattern of inventory behavior are striking. In the last quarter of 1974, business firms produced almost $18 billion worth of goods in excess of what they sold.

In the first quarter of 1975, business firms produced $19 billion worth of goods less than they were able to sell to final purchasers. (Figures at annual rates.)

No wonder production and employment took a deep dive beginning near the end of last year.

Clearly the problem of this recession has not been a sudden drying up of demand on the part of final purchasers. The drop that began last October has been mainly, if not exclusively, a matter of changing inventory trends.

It is important to note that for a turnaround to occur in production trends, it is not necessary that inventory accumulation should be resumed, or even that inventory reduction should cease. All that need happen is that the rate of inventory reduction become somewhat slower than it was in the early part of this year.

With this background, economists take very seriously the multiplying signs that the deep economic plunge which began last October has now hit bottom.

The actual bottom may have been in April, May, or June — it is too early to say precisely but you can bet on one of those three months.

If so, the total duration of the recession (period of business contraction), dating it from October 1974, may be as short as six months but almost certainly no more than eight months. This would make the 1974-75 recession one of the shortest, and possibly the shortest, of all recessions of the past 30 years.

In expressing this judgment on the duration of the recession, we must not be complacent in regard to the underlying state of health of the economy. We have some persistent problems which have stretched out over many years. Inflation continues, sometimes getting a little better, but usually getting worse. We have a shortage of capital which impairs the ability of our economy to grow.

The real misfortune has been the tendency to drop all concern about these underlying national problems, and concentrate attention on this passing phenomenon, the recession.

We suffer in the future from the reversals of national policy which occurred early this year much more than from the recession itself.

Personal Property Tax Payments Due Tuesday

County Tax Collector James E. Jones reminded owners of property. They are charged to business and personal property taxes this week that they will need an extra six per cent to pay any 1975 unsecured property taxes which have not been paid by September 2.

The penalty usually applies to payments after August 31, been mailed to unsecured property owners since March of this year because August 31 falls on Saturday and the tax collector's office will be closed September 1 for the Labor Day holiday.

"Taxpayers should be aware that the penalty is a flat rate of 6 per cent of the total bill — and is not an annual percentage rate," Jones said.

Unsecured taxes apply principally to business property, airplanes, boats and possessions.

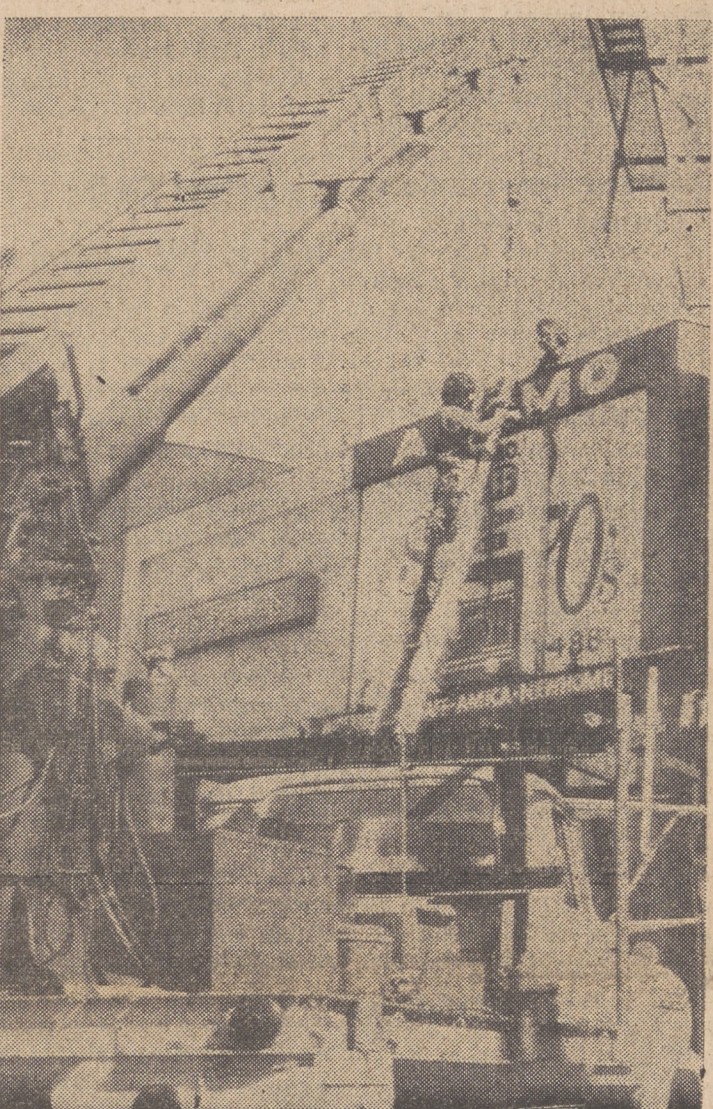

VdO Plan Hearing for Sept. 6

An all-day public session involving residents in the Valle de Oro area is planned for September 6 by the citizen's executive committee of the Valle de Oro Community Plan and staff of the County Integrated Planning Office.

Communities to be affected by the plan include Spring Valley, Casa de Oro, La Presa, Rancho San Diego and portions of the Mt. Helix area.

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. and continue until 4 p.m. in the cafeteria of Spring Valley Junior High, 3900 Conrad dr.

SIGN OF TIMES — Enforcement of the first phase of the new county sign ordinance just two weeks away, Alamo Vacuum and Sewing called in a sign firm to convert its projecting sign into a mounted one, making the storefront legal. Rules Repeated For V.F.W. Teenage Dances

Two teen-age dance dates have been set by the Lemon Grove V.F.W.

This month's dance will be Friday, August 29 with Art Spencer and his discotheque music. The September dance will be on the 26th.

Friday's dance will be held in memory of Shirley Blasair, one of the teen dance supervisors who died earlier this month in an automobile accident.

Tickets are available at the VFW lounge at 2885 Imperial ave., Lemon Grove between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., according to Dick Bales, dance chairman for the VFW.

IDs will be required when tickets are picked up.

A Youth Activity meeting will be held for juniors Thursday, September 4 at 7 p.m. Following that, the senior group will meet. A female supervisor is needed by that group. All parents are invited to attend the meeting.

Regarding responsibilities, call Dick Bales at 461-5877.

For the benefit of youngsters who want to attend VFW dances, here are the rules:

Ages: 14-17 inclusive; IDs required. Attire: Clean and informal. Shoes and shirt mandatory.

Clingers Burglarized

When the Cody J. Clingers came back from vacation to their home at 530 La Presa ave., Spring Valley, on August 20, they discovered they had been burglarized.

A box of coins, a $100 bill and a $50 check amounted to a loss of $200, sheriff's deputies were told.

meetings throughout the year, the September 6 session is the first actively seeking testimony and planning ideas from the community at large.

The meeting will offer individuals an opportunity to contribute ideas about the plan's goal formulation process, according to a spokesman from the Integrated Planning Office.

The community plan will identify the location of future parks, roads and shopping centers and will become the basis for determining zoning classifications.

Large Turnout Expected

A large turnout is anticipated for the hearing, where citizens will be permitted to address or work with one of four subcommittees of the executive committee.

The sub-committees have been divided into the following areas of interest: park and recreation, conservation, land use and public facilities.

The planning commission is a body of concerned citizens wishing to have a say in the growth plan for the Valle de Oro community, while the executive committee is charged with gathering input from the community and making recommendations to the county's Integrated Planning Office.

The county's timetable calls for reports on the planning recommendations from the executive committee by July, 1977. Committee secretary Carolyn Blocker said that the members expect to have their reports completed a year earlier.

The local officer is Lt. Charles K. Wigginton, who has served as patrol lieutenant of Lemon Grove for the past two years. He will be replaced by Lt. George Dodson whose job Wigginton will assume.

Wigginton will be transferred to Central Detectives, downtown, where he will serve under Captain Barney Oldham, who preceded Captain Henry Schillip as officer in charge of the Lemon Grove station.

The man, reportedly, gave him a cartridge from the gun and said, "This is for you."

Soulier told deputies that he earlier had introduced the suspect and his brother to a person in Tijuana from who the suspect bought $1,000 worth of cocaine.

The man later complained to Soulier that the "stuff is no good," and he wanted his money back.

When Soulier was unable to raise the money the man came to his house and took the keys to the Lincoln at gunpoint.

He told Soulier that he was going to take the car to San Francisco and that he would call Soulier on August 19 to ascertain whether or not the money had been raised. "If you have the money you can fly to San Francisco and get your keys and take your car," he is reported to have said.

When the robber did not call on August 19, Soulier made a call of his own — the sheriff's Lemon Grove office.

Police have names and addresses.

Another common confusion is the motorist's obligations to stop for a school bus. Brown hopes to make clear at the neighborhood visits that vehicles need not stop unless the bus' stop lights are flashing.

Keep Firemen Active

The regular occurrence of grass fires, albeit of the small and harmless variety, has kept Lemon Grove firemen active during the past week.

On August 21, 3:17 p.m., fire fighters were called to a brush fire west of Murray Hill rd.

On Sunday, 12:17 p.m., a grass fire in the 3700 block of Gigliotti dr. was extinguished.

Grass fires on the corner of Osage and Tarleton and at 7810 Nichols st. were reported to the Lemon Grove Fire Department on Monday and Tuesday respectively.

None of the reported fires caused property damage.

It's No Yolk Egg Center Loses Cigarettes, Beer

The Egg Center at 6024 Quarry rd., Lemon Grove, is doing a vigorous business—in burglaries.

A burglar entered the store Sunday night during closed hours and took beer, cigarettes and Frito snacks representing a loss of $400, according to Sheila Meio, the proprietor. The store suffered a similar loss a few weeks ago.

The burglar pried open the door to the establishment to get in.

Lt. Wigginton Leaves L.G. in 'Operation Swap'

The Sheriff's Lemon Grove office will lose one of its officers by exchange Friday when Sheriff John Duffy makes a mass transfer of one third of the total number of sheriff's lieutenants. 11 of the department's 31 lieutenants will be moved on the same day. Some simply swap jobs with others.

It is part of the career development program for Duffy's officers.

The local officer is Lt. Charles K. Wigginton, who has served as patrol lieutenant of Lemon Grove for the past two years. He will be replaced by Lt. George Dodson whose job Wigginton will assume.

Wigginton will be transferred to Central Detectives, downtown, where he will serve under Captain Barney Oldham, who preceded Captain Henry Schillip as officer in charge of the Lemon Grove station.

Schools Proclaim 'Bus Safety Week' as Back-to-School Nears

As a counter measure against motorists who flash their lights at school bus drivers or don't quite know when to stop or when to go, when approaching a bus, Art Brown, transportation department head at the Lemon Grove School District, has planned a "School Bus Safety and Awareness Week."

Approved by the school board Tuesday, the "Awareness" week begins September 2 featuring a school bus and driver stationed at a local shopping area. The driver will conduct inspection tours, pass out literature and discuss rules of safety with passersby.

As an example, Brown hopes to dispell the misconception of a number of local drivers that he inadvertently leaves his headlights on while on his route. "State law requires that they be on at all times," he said.

Another common confusion is the motorist's obligations to stop for a school bus. Brown hopes to make clear at the neighborhood visits that vehicles need not stop unless the bus' stop lights are flashing.

The tentative schedule for visits at press time was as follows:

Tuesday — Thrifty Drug, Food Basket parking lot on Imperial

Wednesday — Mayfair Market, Broadway

Thursday — Food Basket,

Hidden Customer Steals $2,100 From Pal's Cafe

Somebody knew what he was doing.

The knowledge cost Pal's Cafe, at 3521 Imperial ave. in Lemon Grove $2,100 in cash—week-end receipts.

The cash was in a hidden, locked compartment.

It wasn't there Monday morning when David G. Moore, the manager, opened the place about 6 a.m.

Sheriff's deputies reported that someone hid inside the place at closing time. Officers indicated that it was someone who was a regular customer or he would have been noted as closing hour neared. Also the person knew where the cash was kept.

Pry marks, however, indicated that the front door was jimmied as was the cash box door.

Several months ago a sizeable amount of money was missing from the office safe.

Several weeks ago the firm's meat supply was stolen from a refrigerator room that opens to the outside of the building.

One-Third of State K-3 Children Learn By ECE Method This Fall

Thirty-three percent of California's children in public school programs for kindergarten through the third grade will be enrolled in Early Childhood Education (ECE) programs this fall — 13 percent more than last year.

Wilson Riles, state superintendent of public instruction, said the expansion will spread the reforms promoted by ECE to approximately 150,000 additional children in all parts of California.

"Eventually, we hope to have ECE programs operating in every classroom serving children in the first four plans in the state are exactly alike or work in the same way.

Riles points out that ECE provides a comprehensive approach to improve the skills and abilities of all children — regardless of their economic backgrounds or unique educational needs — by capitalizing on the rich learning opportunities present in a child's early years.

The program stresses the need for early detection of learning problems and early intervention to anticipate and to correct problems before they become serious, Riles says. This approach, according to the findings of educational research, is more effective and far less expensive than remediation in later years.

As a total education strategy, ECE places heavy emphasis on such elements as individualized instruction, active, continuous involvement of parents, and learning experiences that develop positive attitudes and feelings of self-worth.

ECE requires each school to develop its own plan after a parent-school appraisal has been made of the educational needs and aspirations of that particular community, Riles says. As a result, no two local

Year-Round School Grows in State

The traditional summer school is being replaced by many variations of the year-round school program in 126 schools in 38 California school districts, including La Mesa-Spring Valley, whose administration claims credit for initiating legislation authorizing year-round school in a joint effort with the Chula Vista school district.

Year-round classes began at those schools during the summer of 1971, a short time after then Governor Reagan signed the Year-Round bill into law.

"We were all committed to start that summer," explained LMSV District Assistant Superintendent Dr. David Pascoe. The bill was signed on June 14, shortly before summer session classes began.

ECE programs have been funded in the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District.

In Lemon Grove, San Miguel will enter its second year of ECE funding next week while Vista La Mesa school will initiate a funded program there.

Working in LMSV District La Mesa-Spring Valley district has one junior high and three elementary schools operating on the year-round program. Rancho, Bancroft and La Presa Elementary and La Presa Junior High are each teamed with another district school per neighborhood to offer a choice of school schedules to students. If the student opts for the traditional school schedule, he attends the other school.

Dr. Pascoe estimates that nearly 25 percent of the District's pupils have opted for the year-round schedule.

There is no advantage in days off for either system, but Districts pioneering in this field were largely on their own, but the California legislature in 1973 passed a measure to help finance the change-over to year-round operation. The department of education has also played a role in setting up and improving programs by conducting feasibility studies and providing consultants.

Good Change The state report regards the year-round concept a refreshing departure from an "unnatural gap in formal training."

The traditional nine-month school year evolved in a search for uniformity between the nation's rural areas, where farm work once dictated that children go to school only in the winter, and the cities, where the school year once lasted 11 months. By the turn of the century, the nine-month school year had become the standard.

"The changing life-styles of the post-World War II era have made it increasingly apparent that the traditional reasons for the nine-month school calendar no longer exist," the report concludes.

It is suggested that a year-round schedule. In the spreading out of the summer county, besides Chula Vista vacation to other months and La Mesa-Spring Valley, would be preferred by many other school districts experienced families because vacationing with year-round are spots would not be as crowded. Other positive benefits cited in the study include less tru-

Seminar to Examine The Problem Employee

UCSD has announced plans for a one-day seminar on "The Problem Employee", October 8 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Howard Schwartz, a management consultant from Beverly Hills, will come to the Hilton Inn to talk with seminar participants about "Diagnosing" problem employee cases "before they proceed too far," prevalent types of problems and useful corrective actions.

The issue of whether "the problem" requires disciplinary action, or is actually a matter of better training or supervision, will also be tackled.

Firms or individuals interested in the program are asked to telephone the Extension office at 452-3400.

Teachers' Median Pay Doubles Over Past Ten Years

The 1974-75 median salary paid California's public school teachers was $14,271 — nearly twice as high as the median salary of $7,563 paid a decade ago, according to a new report released by the California Department of Education.

Statistics compiled by the department's Bureau of School Apportionments and Reports also show that elementary district superintendents had a median salary of $27,700 and high school district superintendents had a median salary of $30,600.

The report said 15 percent of the state's 187,000 full-time teachers had salaries of $17,400 or more in 1974-75.

School Days are Here Again! School Days are Here Again! School Days are Here Again!

Eight Local Racers Entered In SCORE'S Off Road Events

It's going to be a heck of a big race. Already, there are more than 300 entries from all over the globe. Nearly 100 are from San Diego County. It's SCORE'S "AC-DeLo World Championships" of Off-Road racing. It will be held Friday through Sunday, September 5-7 at the Riverside International Raceway. The Raceway is at 22255 Eucalyptus ave.

There are eight racers from Lemon Grove and Spring Valley alone.

From foreign lands they will come from Japan, England, Mexico, Canada and Sweden.

$200,000 in Prizes

There will be nearly $200,000 in prizes but the money will not be easy to come by. SCORE had tried, probably successfully, to simulate the course hazards encountered during the non-accessible grueling Baja 1,000 mile off-road race. At Riverside it will be over a 3.5 mile course — all of it in front of the grandstand.

Friday, September 5 is try-out and inspection day 7 a.m.-7 p.m.

On Saturday, September 6, there will be 14 qualifying races to determine starting positions for six main events Sunday. Tickets seem reasonable enough for a 3-day affair — $9. Sunday tickets singly are $7. Overnight parking is provided free with the 3-day ticket.

14 Classes

Keeping track of the 14

classes is simple. Vehicles less than 250 cc numbered 100-199 are class 1. They're single seat 4-wheelers. Class 2 — 200-299; 2 seat 4-wheelers. Class 3 — 300-399, 4-wheel stocks. Class 4 — 400-499, 4-wheel drive, modified. Class 5 — 500-599, modified bugs. Class 6 — 600-699, Production, 2-wheel drive.

Bill Silverstorn

Class 7 — 700-799, Mini pickups. Class 8 — 800-899, Production, 2-wheel utility. Class 9 — 900-999, VW single seat, 1200 cc or less. Class 10 — 1-99, 2-seat, 4-wheels, 1200 cc or less. Class 11 — VW stocks 01-099. Class 20 — Motorcycles less than 125 cc. Class 21 — 100-199 Cycles

Kojis Joins Muehleisen In Racquetball Business

Don Kojis, former NBA basketball star who retired from team play recently, said this week that he has joined Dr. Bud Muehleisen to design and construct Muehleisen Courts throughout the country.

Dr. Muehleisen is a nationally known racquetball figure.

Kojis played for the Kansas City-Omaha Kings for the last three years of a highly successful 12-year basketball career. He has played in two NBA All-Star games and started in one.

Kojis' post will be with M-M Courte Systems, an affiliate of Muehleisen Courts, M-M distributes high-density laminated Formica panels used in the construction of racquetball and handball courts.

Kojis has played with the San Diego Rockets (now Denver) and the Chicago Bulls in addition to the Kings.

Muehleisen is one of the founding fathers of racquetball and the first player to be elected to the Racquetball Hall of Fame. He holds 24 international titles in racquet-

$60,000 to Lure Motorcyclists To 'Big O' Event

The richest motorcycle race in the Western U. S. — the Champion Spark Plug Motorcycle Classics returns to California's Ontario Motor Speedway on October 4-5 for the fifth successive year.

With a cash purse of $42,500 it is anticipated that contingency awards will once again take the total prize fund well over the $60,000 mark . . . a sum believed large enough to lure top talent from all over the world to do battle with the home-based aces.

The CSPMC, running on the sinuous infield road course at the "Big O" marks the climax of the American Motorcycle Assn.'s Grand National Championship trail, being the final event in the $75,000 "Camel Pro Series".

The series has again developed into a battle royal between two-time Champ (73-74) Kenny Roberts of the Yamaha squad and the rider who has been runner-up in the Championship stakes for the past three successive years, Harley-Davidson's Gary Scott. At the moment Scott has the edge on Roberts, but the duel shows every sign of going right down to the wire.

The event promoters are currently negotiating with such overseas stars as Giacomo Agostini, Johnny Cecotto, Barry Sheene and Tepe Lansburi to add some Continental "glamor" to the proceedings.

Mark Olberding Signed by Sails

Mark Olberding, one of the premier young players in college basketball, has signed a multiple year contract with the San Diego Sails. Other terms of the contract were not disclosed.

Olberding, 19, was the No. one choice of the San Antonio Spurs in the 1975 ABA draft. His rights were acquired for cash and a future high draft choice, paving the way for the signing.

A 6'9", 230-pound forward, Olberding earned 2nd team All Big-10 honors last season as a freshman at Minnesota. He paced Bill Musselman's Gophers in scoring with a 15.4 average and in rebounding with 10 per game.

Musselman, now the coach of the Sails, calls Mark one of the best passing and ball handling big men he's ever seen. "He is the greatest talent available."

"Mark is extremely mature for his age," says Musselman. "I think that was in evidence last year when he stepped right into Big-10 play as a freshman."

"Aside from his obvious basketball skills, I think the maturity is his most important asset in now making the transition into pro ball," the coach said.

Olberding prepped at Melrose High School in Melrose, Minnesota and was one of the most sought after high school players in the country. He joined the team upon signing and is working out with the Sails.

In another Sails development, Jim Brochu was named promotion manager of the Sails. Brochu has previously been associated with the Lakers, Phoenix Suns and Memphis Tams.

He has already taken up his duties.

Manolo Martinez Tops Cartel at Seaside Bullring

A strong cartel has been lined up for the Labor Day weekend bullfight this Sunday at the seaside arena, Plaza Monumental de Tijuana.

Manolo Martinez, Adrian Romero, and Jesus Solorzano Jr. will face bulls of San Miguel de Mimihuaupam beginning at 4 p.m.

The combination of prestigious matadors and bulls is expected to lure a large crowd to the 22,000-seat bullring.

Martinez, 29, of Monterrey and Romero, 25, of Mexico City have provided much of the excitement this summer in Tijuana. Martinez is the top award-winner of the season. Romero would be challenging him in number of trophies were it not for inconsistency with the sword.

But with banderillas, during virtually every corrida, Romero has been outstanding.

Solorzano, 33, of Mexico City also places banderillas. So a duel between these two might evolve.

Best Since Arruza

Martinez has excited more passion in Mexican bullfighting than any matador since Carlos Arruza. He has created strong and vociferous factions — one that acclaims him as the world's finest torero, another that derogates him loudly when he does not triumph, and sometimes when he does. He seldom kneels or makes the spinning pass called a molette. Mainly he uses basic maneuvers with first one hand, then the other.

On Jan. 17, 1971, at Mexico City's Plaza Mexico, with 48,000 seats — the largest bullring in the world, he performed with the Tequisquiapan bull, Aceituno, a performance so grand that a plaque was placed at the arena in honor of the achievement.

Sportspeople in S.B. Race Sat.

Saturday South Bay Park Speedway and Mesa Auto Racing Assn., will present its second annual Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Street-Stock car championship race program. The 1974 program at South Bay Park was a great success with more than $1500 raised for the worthy cause.

In addition to Street-Stock cars in a 40-lap extra point main the claimer cars in no-holds barred action, South Bay will feature a Radio and TV personality race followed by an auction with the proceeds going to the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy fund campaign.

Personalities

Invitations went to all DJ's, Sportscasters and Writers, and other media personalities to participate in a special race Saturday night. So far Paul the Greek of KFMB, Dan Danner of the Jerry Gross Hot Line and Skip Conover of KDEO have returned acceptances.

After the personality race Saturday, an auction will be held with the top item so far a genuine Claimer Stock Car going on the block.

Racing gets underway Saturday with the Trophy Dash at 8 p.m. and qualifying at 7 p.m.

Loan Firm Entered

Office equipment was taken from Liberty Loan, 8257 Broadway, Lemon Grove, while it was closed August 23. Richard Allen Kilisz, assistant manager, told sheriff's deputies that a calculator, letter opener and a butane lighter were missing. The loss, he thought, would amount to $75.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

You may find this hard to believe, folks. But believe me, you can believe it. Folks across the nation are united in worry for us. They sweat our survival. Every landlocked community in America fears for the safety of its coast dwellers.

It's an epidemic of terror and dread, with a patch of phobia, and a pinch of panic. It's called "Jawsitis."

Ever since Pete Benchley wrote about the great white shark, fear has become as commonplace on the beach as sand flies. And when Richard Zanuck and Dave Brown produced Benchley's book into a movie, the world became "JAWS" conscious.

Sane citizens have become shark happy. Teltail dorsal fins have been sighted off the harbor of Duluth, up the Hudson at Albany, in the Great Salt Lake and up the North Platte at Casper, Wyoming.

The sport of swimming is in great danger. Bathing suits have bottomed out. A group of small boys in North Little Rock refused to take a bath after viewing Jaws. (However, in the interest of honest reporting, the same small boys are on record for bath refusals even before Benchley wrote his book.)

For some reason citizens who brave hurricanes, twisters and the wilting combination of scorching sun and 100 percent humidity, feel smug and lucky to live in the midland.

In areas where tornados, sleet, rain by the bucketful and blizzards that come early, stay late and fall often, citizens are gathering to send Care packages to unlucky friends and relatives living by the seashore.

Now, you and I know, it just ain't so. Thousands of beach goers kick sand in the face of thousands of skinny guys every day and sometimes you go a week or more without seeing a dorsal fin.

Besides that, science and the U.S. Government are on our side. After considerable study, the Shark Research Panel of the American Institute of Biological Sciences has made public a series of recommendations for swimmers who frequent shark infested waters.

1. Always swim or dive with a companion. (Presumably, the reasoning here is you stand a 50 percent better chance of survival if the shark has to choose between two victims.)

2. Avoid swimming at night or in murky waters. (Even if he's not hungry, a great white shark can be dangerous. In the dim light he might mistake you for a lady shark and start fooling around.)

3. Don't wear anything bright. (The same goes for walking past city sharks hanging' around the pool room.)

4. Don't provoke sharks, even small ones. (Follow this rule with all types of sharks: great whites, blues, hammerheads and loan.)

5. Don't go in the water with an open wound. Blood attracts sharks. (And they don't go for certain kinds of after shave, either.)

6. Never go swimming in water containing garbage. (And while this closes the east coast from Baltimore to Boston, all of the San Francisco Bay area and Long Beach, it's solid advice. Even if you're not attacked by sharks in these waters, you'd be fair game for CIA agents and nosy news reporters.)

7. Upon sighting a shark, leave the water calmly and quickly. (They didn't say how to swim calmly and quickly when you're throwing up and petrified with fear.)

8. Scuba divers should remain submerged. (Even if it takes a year or more.)

9. Remove all speared fish from the water. Do not tow them in a bag or by a line. (It's safer to get your tuna in a can.)

10. If charged by a shark, face it and try to discourage it by striking it in the snout with a board, rock, or whatever is handy. (A 20-foot great white shark would be about 8-feet wide, weigh 3-tons and at the front end would be all mouth and teeth. Anybody who would tell you to discourage it by hitting it in the snout with a board or rock would also probably tell you not to panic.)

11. Don't panic.

Lobos Trounce Shamrocks 31-6

The San Diego Lobos, National Women's Football League, walloped Dallas-Ft. Worth Shamrocks 31-6 Sunday after a shaky first half.

The score was 6-6 at the half but it could have been 50-6 for either team as fumbles, bad passes and poor football came into play for each team several times.

The Lobos put it together better in the third quarter to run their total to 31 points after stopping the Shamrocks several times on the fourth down and short yardage.

Teresa Higgins, Dodie Malhot and Judie Sanders turned in good performances. The Lobos are now 1-0-1 in league play.

The Lobos travel to Los Angeles on September 7 for their next game but return home on September 14 to host San Gabriel. The game will be played at Mesa college which is about a mile north of Mission Valley freeway west of 395.

Kickoff 1:30 p.m.

Spring Valley Racer Increases Cajon Lead

With six regular season races left on the 1975 schedule

Pat McIntyre, the Spring Valley building contractor, has a 205 point lead over Tim Biggers of El Cajon in the points chase.

Equally important perhaps, is that McIntyre has won the last two features out at the 3/8 mile paved oval.

Biggers, who is enjoying his best season of his 12 year career, isn't ready to give up yet and will be gunning for more points in the 75-lap Labor Day weekend feature Saturday night at Cajon Speedway.

Biggers and McIntyre have split the two 75-lappers run so far this year with Biggers capturing the Memorial Day race while McIntyre found the groove in the Fourth of July race.

These two will be joined by about 60 other drivers for the nine event show.

In addition to the 75-lapper a 25 lap semi will be held along with the consolation, four heat races and the traditional trophy dash.

Qualifying will precede the dash and all competitors seek positions for the night's action.

Attendance at the track went over the 75,000 mark for the season last weekend and should reach the 100,000 mark before the season's end in October.

Saturday night's action will begin at 8 p.m. with qualifying set for 6:30.

3 Big Races in 3 Days On Del Mar Holiday Card

Del Mar's most successful season in history will hit its peak during the upcoming Labor Day holiday weekend with the estimated $85,000 Del Mar

Debutante headlining the program Sunday followed by the invitational $100,000 Del Mar Handicap on Monday.

Launching the three-day weekend Saturday will be the $20,000-added Chula Vista Handicap at one mile for older horses.

The Del Mar Handicap, contested over the infield grass course at the endurance-testing distance of a mile and three-eighths, will be presented for the 36th time, but only for the third time as an invitational affair. Red Realty, under Braulio Baeza, won the inaugural invitational running, while a year ago the victor was Redtop III, ridden by Fernando Toro.

Del Mar 'Cap

Among candidates for the 1975 Del Mar 'Cap are such outstanding turf performers as Pass the Glass, a multi stakes-winning son of Buckpasser and Amerigo Lady who has enjoyed a brilliant year of competition; Contreras, who culminated his rise from the claiming ranks by winning a division of the Sunset Handicap at Hollywood Park; Jockey, a hard-hitting speed horse; Confederate Yankee, Montmartre, Against the Snow and Blue Times.

Expected to top the line-up in the one-mile Del Mar Debutante Sunday is Queen To Be, a stylish winner of the Sorrento Stakes at the Debutante distance recently. The daughter of Cornish Prince probably earned Debutante favoritism with her handy, 2 1/2-length triumph over T. V. Terese in 1:36 4/5.

Saturday's Chula Vista 'Cap will bring out a well-matched field, including defending champion Fair Test, El Seetu, Buck Price, Bahia Key and Announcer.

Prothro to Meet Don Coryell In St. Louis Saturday at 5 p.m.

The Chargers defeated the San Francisco 49ers, 20-7 at San Diego Stadium last Thursday night in a game which might have been billed as "New Charger Faces of '75."

Playing prominent roles in the impressive victory were rookies Neal Jeffrey, Dwight McDonald, Louie Kelcher, Mike Fuller and Mike Williams plus two other newcomers, Pat Curran and Maurice Tyler.

Playing the second half in reserve of injured Dan Fouts, Jeffrey completed 6 of 11 passes for 129 yards and his first pro touchdown, 23 yards to Gary Garrison.

The free agent gift from San Diego State, McDonald caught "bombs" of 55 and 51 yards. Kelcher blocked a field goal attempt with his huge hands. Fuller returned five punts for 93 yards. Williams intercepted his first pro pass. Curran caught three passes in his Charger debut. Tyler joined Jeffrey as recipients of game balls for his smashing play on special teams.

Good Efforts

Said coach Tommy Prothro, "We played pretty good ball for this time of year. There were plenty of good individual efforts. We played with more intensity."

Mike Fuller, the 5-foot-9, 195-pound rookie strong safety and kick return specialist, showed Charger fans he knows how to return punts by gaining 93 yards on five returns against San Francisco. He brought back memories of a former Charger kick return hero of little size, Leslie (Speedy) Duncan.

A No. 3 draft choice from Auburn, Fuller proved his value in another pursuit against the 49ers. The Chargers' new holder, he saved three points by scooping up a low snap and making the hold for a Ray Wersching field goal.

Pat Curran Sparkles

Tight end Pat Curran, named to the starting lineup against San Francisco, caught the first pass of the game for 25 yards, scored San Diego's first touchdown on an eight-yard catch and ended the night with three catches for 48 yards.

What's so unusual about that?

In six years as a reserve with the Los Angeles Rams, Curran caught only a total of nine passes for 83 yards.

This Week's Game

The Chargers travel to St. Louis Saturday to meet a former San Diego favorite—Cardinal Coach Don Coryell—former Aztec head coach.

It is the Chargers' first road game of the year and the first time ever to visit St. Louis.

It'll be a return trip for John David Crow, former Cardinal star who is the Chargers' offensive coordinator.

St. Louis won the National Conference's Eastern title last year with a 10-4 record and quick-striking attackers like Jim Hart, Terry Metcalf and

Volleyball Playoffs at Arena Saturday Night

Time ran out for the San Diego Breakers last Friday at the Sports Arena as they were knocked out of the running for a bid at the top spot in the first season of the International Volleyball Assn.

The Los Angeles Stars, running neck-and-neck with Coach Rudy Swars' San Diego Six since the second week of the season, pushed the locals to a four game match last Friday evening at the Sports Arena, then took all "the marbles" by humbling them 3-1.

That win gave the visiting Stars sole possession of first place and bumped the Breakers to second place in their final IVA regular season contest.

The Breakers wound up the season with an impressive 17-7 record, falling one game short of LA's 18-6 posting.

However, all is not lost in bringing San Diego a professional championship title this year in pro co-ed volleyball.

Breakers at SB

The Breakers prepare to meet Santa Barbara tonight (the third place team) in the initial round of the Farah IVA World Championship Play-offs at Santa Barbara.

San Diego won the only NFL game between the teams 20-17 on Monday night TV in 1971 at San Diego. But in pre-season games, St. Louis leads 2-1. The Cardinals, playing their veterans, trounced the Charger rookies 48-14 at Seattle last summer.

Series Closes Schedule With East 4 O'Clock Game Opens Montreal Series Today

Believe it or not, the 1975 season is in its virtual death throes as the San Diego Padres prepare to head into the final month of the campaign by hosting the Montreal Expos and then going on the road for a return to action against Western Division opponents.

The Padres will be closing out the schedule against Eastern Division opposition as they entertain the Montreal club today through Sunday to also put an end to their current homestand.

Game time for today's clash will be 4 p.m. as the contest is being billed as the Swing Shift Special and is geared for fans who work odd hours.

As for the rest of the series with the Expos, the August 29-30 contests will be at the usual time of 7 p.m. and the Sunday finale will go at the normal 1 p.m. start.

Off to Cincy

Following this, the Padres will move right back into the thick of play within their own division, going to Cincinnati for games in September 1-2 and then a pair with Atlanta September 3-4. San Diego will be completing the swing September 5-7 in the famed Astrodome against the Houston Astros.

"Time is starting to run out on us," said Padre skipper John McNamara, "and we've got to begin thinking about a real move if we are to catch San Francisco for third place and a first division finish."

"Looking ahead a bit in the schedule we've got those 13 games right at the end against Los Angeles and San Francisco, but a key thing for us is to be even or ahead of the Giants going into those final meetings."

Seeks Five

"It's all simple mathematics," explained McNamara. "With seven games left against the Giants, we'd have to win at least five of the games with them if we are four games behind (as the Padres have been for quite some time) when the series gets underway. The time for us to make our move is right now so that we have some Marlowe was a member of San Diego State's 1973 NCAA championship team and twice was named All-American.

Stafford, an all-around prep athlete, was named the Aztecs' most valuable player last season although he was playing in collegiate competition for only the second year. Cote, a San Diego resident, was a rookie All-American in 1973 when playing for the Aztecs.

Other players on the U.S. Team include Tom Read, a

National Hole in 1 Benefits Boys' Clubs

NEW YORK — "The odds of making a hole in one are about 11,000 to 1.

With all the people playing, I expect to see a lot of acers to come to my Puerto Rico for the finals of the Boys' Clubs of America hole-in-one contest," said star golfer Juan (Chi Chi) Rodriguez.

Chi Chi, winner of seven tournaments and $650,000 in his pro career, is one of the co-chairmen, along with Lee Trevino and Hubert Green, of the national hole-in-one contest to benefit the Boys' Clubs of America guidance programs.

The contest will be held over Labor Day weekend, Aug. 30-Sept. 1. The entry fee is $1.

The winner and golf pro at his club each receive a 1976 auto.

John L. Burns, president of the Boys' Clubs of America, said about 4,000 public and private golf clubs will participate in the event.

The hole-in-one makers will receive an expense paid trip for two via American Airlines to Puerto Rico, where the finals will be held at the El Conquistador Hotel & Country Club course.

If no one makes a hole in one in the finals, the contestant with the shot closest to the hole will win a 1976 car. The pro at his club will also receive one.

Caliente Horses and Dogs Racing Again

Tijuana—Thoroughbred racing resumed over the weekend at Agua Caliente and although both horsemen and race fans were pleased to be back at the Tijuana track after it was closed by a labor strike for 11 days, management had to admit the time lost had caused a drop in both attendance and revenue.

Jack Meyers, Caliente's director of racing, said: "There is no question the strike caused a loss of momentum in our racing program. We will probably see a loss of 25 per cent in revenue in both the horse racing and greyhound programs for this week and it is going to take some time to rebuild the confidence we had established with the fans."

The total handle for Saturday and Sunday racing at Caliente came to $703,624, a drop of about $160,000 from the August 9-10 weekend before the strike against Caliente was called by the union representing all but clerical workers and officials.

During June and most of July, the handle for the horses had been approximately $1 million.

Meyers said that horses shipped out of Caliente during the strike was about equal to the number arriving and stall space requests are continuing to be taken daily.

11 thoroughbred events are scheduled for the Saturday-Sunday cards. Post time both days is 1 o'clock.

Peace Corps Drive Seeks Teachers

Teacher unemployment, now placed as high as 25% in some parts of Southern California, is promoting renewed interest among educators in the Peace Corps, reports a San Diego spokesman.

Peace Corps is also interested in attracting large numbers of qualified teachers for overseas assignments, according to Southern California area manager, Ralph S. Coleman.

The need for elementary and secondary educators, plus college graduates with majors in mathematics, home economics and science subjects is evidenced by current Peace Corps goals of recruiting 1,000 teachers by October 1, said Coleman.

A team of Peace Corps and ACTION representatives — all former volunteers — headed by Coleman will anchor a four-day San Diego area volunteer recruitment drive beginning Monday, August 25 at the Employment Development Department office, 1354 Front street from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. each day.

E.D.D. offices county-wide are assisting in this community drive for volunteers by displaying poster information and acting as referral centers, Coleman noted.

No appointments are necessary and telephone information is available by calling 236-7715.

Teevee Documentary On Chinese Art

The exhibition of the Archaeological Finds of the People's Republic of China — currently attracting 11,000 viewers daily at the Asian Art Museum of San Francisco — will be the subject of a 90-minute color telecast this winter.

The documentary "Six Hundred Millennia: China's Traveling History," is scheduled for national release over 250 stations through the Public Broadcasting System (PBS). It will be seen on KPBS — Ch. 15, in San Diego.

The film is being produced by public television KQED, San Francisco in cooperation with the Asian Art Museum. Bank of America is underwriting the full $65,000 in production costs.

The television special will explore China's interpretation of its history from the Paleolithic era (600,000 years ago) through the 14th century.

The collection of 385 artifacts includes textiles, bronzes, pottery, ceramics, oracle bones, wood and stone sculpture, gold and silver utensils and the jade-plated shroud of Princess Tou Wan.

Historical documents and film, interviews with historians, archaeologists, and art specialists, will relate the artifacts to their periods in China's past.

Spring Valley Man on Task Force

Evelle Younger Forms Consumer Protection Group in San Diego

John Larabee, of 10351 San Carlos, Spring Valley, has care firms, operating nationwide, agreed to make changes in its marketing program and recruitment procedures.

Larabee, a spokesman for the S.D. County Floor Covering Assn. joins some 30 other San Diego persons connected with consumer oriented organizations who were chosen by Attorney General Evelle Younger during his recent visit to San Diego.

Larabee joins people such as John Witt, S.D. City Attorney; Mary Means, Consumer Affairs Counselor, SDG&E; Don Franklin, California Public Interest Research Group (CALPIRG); Cecil Candler, S.D. Better Business Bureau; J. D. Thornton, "Action Line" S.D. Evening Tribune; Jim Lorenz, Deputy District Attorney, and others, as well as representatives of the S.D. Police Department; S.D. County Sheriff's Department and the office of the United States Attorney.

Auto Repairs Worst
A survey conducted by the task force indicated that auto repairs is the number one consumer problem in the county, Younger said.

Other areas of concern are: guarantees, phony sales, automobile purchases, home improvements (roofing, siding, furnaces, swimming pools, vocational schools), financing and finance charges, charitable solicitations, door-to-door sales, distributorship and franchise schemes, mail order sales and small claims court.

Younger said "We are making progress in protecting Californians from fraud in the marketplace," and cited numerous examples, including money.

Firm Here Challenged
Rhama I, Inc., Rhama II, Inc., and the Rhama Institute, as a result of firm is no longer selling furnaces, Younger remarked.

No final judgment has been reached, but one is anticipated seeking permanent injunctive relief and civil penalties.

According to the complaint, the company offered free furnace inspections, primarily to elderly residents of mobile homes. Once in the home, the "inspectors," who are employees of the company, found commonly detected "serious problems" and offered to sell a new or reconditioned furnace.

The complaint pointed out that the so-called problem was represented as being potentially dangerous so that there appeared to be an urgent need to correct the problem.

Chains Charged

Two complaints of statewide interest were filed earlier this month against Montgomery Ward and Co. and Sears Roebuck and Co., Younger noted.

Montgomery Ward was charged in a Sacramento County Superior Court complaint with false advertising and unfair business practices. The Attorney General's Office asked the court for an injunction to stop the alleged practices, plus civil penalties of up to $2,500 for each time a misrepresentation was made, and for restitution.

Sears Roebuck was charged with false advertising and unfair business practices, in a complaint filed in Los Angeles Superior Court.

Other Cases

Some other recent consumer protection cases detailed by the State official included:

Antelope Valley land sales — Founders Land Investment Company and its officials were charged in Los Angeles Superior Court with unlawful, deceptive and fraudulent business practices in the marketing of undeveloped raw land in the Antelope Valley.

Vending Machines — Commercial Vending, Inc., was charged in San Francisco Superior Court with making numerous allegedly false and misleading statements, and using deceptive business practices in inducing Californians to purchase vending machine distributorships and "video pong" game distributorships. Packaging — As the result of action by the State Attorney General, Mitchum-Thayer has agreed to stop shipping or selling in California packages of Mitchum anti-perspirant spray, or any other packages, which contain nonfunctional slack fill.

Such nonfunctional slack fill, he explained, is in violation of the Business and Professions Code. The final judgment does not constitute evidence or admission of guilt by the firm.

The firm was ordered to pay $2,500 as civil penalties and $1,000 in attorney fees and costs.

Turning to the Attorney General's San Diego County Consumer Task Force, Younger said it was formed "to help us identify long-range consumer problems and make recommendations; and point to individual consumer problems capable of judicial or legislative solution."

Similar task forces function in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Sacramento.

BOOKS FOR BIKE SAFETY — Lyle Contway of Corral Ford presents Jerry Cantrall, juvenile officer of the Lemon Grove county Sheriff Patrol substation, with a donation of "Ghost Rider" bicycle safety booklets for use in school traffic safety clinics. The donation was one of eight made to police

Sheriff Duffy Opens Drive For Vote on Jail Control

"Citizens now have the opportunity to express their feelings about keeping the jail under the control of the elected sheriff, or under the control of an appointee dominated by the Walsh, Brown-Bates bloc on the Board of Supervisors," Sheriff John Duffy said in launching a drive to collect voter signatures protesting the ordinance transferring the jail from the sheriff to probation.

"Supervisors Walsh, Bates and Brown refused to hold public hearings on the matter or to put the issue on the ballot. No citizen input was allowed, but the referendum process can overturn their action if we get 46,018 voter signatures to the Board for their meeting on September 16," he said.

The first two people to sign the petition were Supervisors Lee Taylor and Lou Conde who fought the move in the first place, then failed in their efforts to hold public hearings or place the issue on the ballot.

Petitions Available

Petitions are available at every sheriff's installation throughout the county and the Deputy Sheriff's Assn. office at 5555 Mildred st., San Diego. The sheriff described the referendum as his "third front" in the legal battle to keep control of the jail. The other two are in the courts and in Sacramento.

"I firmly believe the courts will overturn the Board's action — but I can't take that chance. I believe the governor will sign the bill getting us out of the mess these three supervisors have put us in — but we can't take that chance. But when the people, the voters, speak by signing the petition — that's final," Duffy said.

The sheriff pointed out that the Board's action in no way supersedes state law pertaining to his duties or the duties of the courts.

Survey Shows State Sentiment Toward Public Transportation

Seven of eight Californians believe a larger chunk of the transportation dollar should go for better public transportation, but only one person in twelve thinks the money should be spent on glamorous high-speed monorails or trains.

These and other attitudes about transportation were found by the California Department of Transportation (Caltrans) in a recent study.

Results of the study will be used to cross-check opinions expressed by the public about the State Transportation Plan, now being aired in public hearings.

Hearings Held On Transportation's Future in State

Comments on the long term planning for state transportation will be received from San Diegans tomorrow as the State Transportation Board and the California Business and Transportation Agency holds a public hearing on the draft of the California Transportation Plan (CTP).

The hearing starts at 9 a.m. in the Copper Room, San Diego Convention Center.

The San Diego session is one of a series of six scheduled throughout the state. The draft CTP has been prepared by the California Department of Transportation under the policy direction and guidance of the Board which must submit the plan to the legislature by next January 1.

CTP covers all modes of transportation, from mass rapid transit in metropolitan areas to the highway needs of rural areas, and it includes an environmental impact report.

There will be no presentation of the CTP or EIR at the meetings.

Each person testifying will be limited to 10 minutes.

344-Acre Expansion For Rancho San Diego

Rancho San Diego, expanding into its next major phase of construction, announced the awarding of a $2,523,277 contract to Metro-Young Construction Co., a Division of Olson Construction Co., to develop three separate new subdivisions in the 4,620 acre "new town" community now being developed just east of Spring Valley.

The new development will cover 344 acres. The announcement was made by Frank Parks, vice president and general manager of Rancho San Diego.

Construction has already been completed on 221 acres of Sweetwater Village West, the first of several planned communities. This village was completely equipped with fully developed lots, all streets, lighting, underground utilities, and planted surrounding hill-sides before sale to builders.

The contract includes development of the 28-acre Sweetwater Village West Area 22, a residential area for single family homes; 37.7 acres in Sweetwater Village West Unit 5 for cluster housing and apartments; and the 278.3 acre Sweetwater Village East, designed for a 50 acre employment center and multi-family, single family and cluster residential lots.

The Construction contract is expected to require a year for its completion.

Metro-Young is a San Diego based firm with general offices at 2141 Main st., in San Diego.

Petro Usage At Pre-Energy Crisis Level

Motorists are buying gasoline in amounts exceeding the pre-energy crisis levels according to figures released by John W. Lynch, Chairman, State Board of Equalization.

Lynch said that the June gasoline consumption was the highest amount ever recorded for that month, exceeding June 1974 by 3.9 percent, and up 1.2 percent over the pre-energy crisis month of June 1973. The increase in gasoline distributions for June 1975 over the same month the previous year was 33.4 million gallons. June is the only month in 18 months, (excepting December 1974) for which the figures have been higher than the corresponding month in 1973.

The gasoline distribution data are for taxable sales by distributors to retail outlets, brokers, and certain other distributors. Refiners, importers, and wholesale distributors of gasoline pay the 7-cent tax on their distribution to retailers.

Drug Possession Charged Here

Sheriff's deputies seeking to serve a warrant on another person inquired at 8275 Golden ave. in Lemon Grove about 9 a.m. August 6.

There, they reported to have observed hypodermic needles and other paraphernalia which they said belonged to Robert Loyd Taylor, 28, who said he was the brother of the person residing at that address.

Further investigation uncovered a bundle of heroin; a metamphetamine tablet, 6 hypodermic needles, a mixing cup and a set of tweezers.

Records indicate that he is on probation on another charge and that needle marks indicated that an injection had been made recently. He is being arraigned in El Cajon Municipal Court.

Valley Inn Burgled

A thief broke into the Spring Valley Inn, 9034 Camino rd., in Spring Valley between 2:30 and 7:30 a.m. Sunday and took $270 in cash from the unlocked cash register.

Thomas Edward Hopper, 45, of 3891 Conrad st., Spring Valley, found the loss when he came to open the inn at 9:45 a.m.

Tax Relief Costly

The State of California spent a record $1.17 billion on property tax relief programs during fiscal year 1974-75, according to State Controller Kenneth Cory.

2 Cable Converters Stolen Same Day

The Great Cable Heist in Lemon Grove is on.

Two residents reported losing their cable picture — and their telephone — the same day.

On August 22 Earl D. McAfoos returned to his new home at 2861 Golden ave. only to find his cable television cable converter and his telephone gone.

He told sheriff's deputies, about 6 p.m., that he was in the process of moving when the loss occurred. A screen was removed and a window broken to get to the items.

On the same day about 9 p.m., Edward James Sullivan, 2330 DiFoss st., Lemon Grove, reported that while he was away from his home someone entered by removing the screen from the bathroom window and took his telephone and cable converter. They left other valuables that were in view.

Forestry Division Warns Against Home Fire Traps

Every family dwelling can be a potential death trap, advises the California Division of Forestry (CDF). According to the National Fire Protection Association there are 63,000,000 occupied housing units in the United States, and about 50 million of these are one or two family dwellings.

1 of 100 Catch Fire

In 1973, there were 587,000 fires in these units or one fire for every 100 houses. Even more tragic than the number of dwellings damaged is the number of lives lost, an average of 6,600 annually. It has been estimated that with proper pre-fire planning 3400 lives could have been saved.

CDF advises everyone to keep their homes fire safe by taking the following precautions.

Time is the prime factor in a fire emergency — time to make an escape. Invaluable moments can be bought in three ways, but they all have to be done before fire strikes. Prompt detection, preplanned escape routes and extra safety precautions when households involve either very young or very old people, can all buy time.

Early Warnings

CDF officials say detection is the most important single step in saving your family from tragedy. The installation of an effective system of early warning fire or smoke detection is recommended for every dwelling. It isn't necessarily the flames of a fire that kill, but the inhalation of smoke or toxic gases. The quicker you are warned of danger, the greater your chances of survival are.

The fire prevention staff of your local fire department can advise you on home warning system. Once your home warning system is in, regular and competent maintenance are a must.

UW Forms Speakers Bureau for Clubs

United Way East County District Board is contacting clubs and organizations in the area offering program time by representatives of the organization's newly formed speakers bureau.

The speakers bureau is comprised of fifteen prominent East County residents who have both knowledge and experience in the total United Way operation along with its funded agencies.

Two distinct themes will be used by the speakers on a year-around schedule. During the campaign months, in the fall of the year, the thrust will be on agency programs and services and funding needs.

There will be no solicitation for contributions at any time by these speakers.

During the off campaign season, speakers will explain how public funds are distributed and allocated to the member agencies. They will also tell of the total United Way operation which is little known and is separate from the generally known fund-raising side.

The bureau is headed by Mrs. Sandi Rhoads of El Cajon as chairperson and has the following members.

house, your warning system has sounded, but your escape path is blocked, now what do you do? Each family should draw up a plan of emergency escape and then practice using it. This plan should include a family gathering place so that everyone can be accounted for during the escape. Instructions on how to call the fire department should be given to children including teaching children their house number and the name of the street. Have your floor plan checked at the nearest fire station.

Children, Elderly

In households with either the very young children or aged persons, special consideration has to be taken for their protection. Young children have a natural fascination for fire.

Back County Brush is Tinder Box, CDF Says

Labor Day weekend is no holiday for the California Division of Forestry (CDF). Last year the CDF responded to 29 emergency calls in the county during the three-day holiday weekend. Fifteen of those emergencies were brush fires of which two developed into major blazes. Those two fires consumed 1,462 acres in the Mt. Palomar area and 250 acres in the Alpine area.

Visitors and campers flock to the back country during the holiday and present a hazard to the forests and brush during one of the driest times of the year. CDF has warned holiday funseekers to be extremely careful with fire and to be sure to have the exhaust system on vehicles checked before proceeding through rural areas. Abundant rains of last winter provided for a thick, heavy growth of brush and grass in the back country. The summer sun has dried this brush to where it is a veritable tinder box waiting for any stray spark to ignite it, CDF reports.

Letter to the Editor

Nuclear Power Safe, Vital, Says Writer

A great debate has been raging over the necessity and desirability for nuclear power for generating energy. Opponents have managed to get a referendum on next year's ballot. This will determine the future of nuclear power in California.

Sincere people are concerned about a nuclear holocaust, but while the debate has been raging, the experience of generating energy by nuclear plants has reached maturity. Evidence is heavily weighted toward the continued and expanded use of nuclear power generation.

Recognizing the inherent dangers of nuclear reaction, industry has taken great care for the safety of nuclear power plants.

Each has built-in fail-safe measures that has so far prevented nuclear generating accidents resulting in either death or injury.

Disposal of Wastes

Several acceptable methods of safe disposal of nuclear wastes already devised eliminates serious threat to present or future generations.

The safety record of the nuclear power industry has been such that high praise is due and concerned people should realize that proper management can continue this excellent safety experience.

On the coin side, nuclear power has been proved economical in such major metropolitan areas as Chicago and New York. In spite of the high initial capital cost, nuclear power costs considerably less than power generated from fossil fuel plants.

Electric power generated from a nuclear source is not only economical but is clean and environmentally better. Further, it reduces our dependency on imported petroleum products which until we achieve natural sufficiency will have an open end price.

Acceptable Sites

In San Diego County where there is no hydroelectric generation and where dependence is on locally generated power, there is another reason for nuclear plants.

Extensive ocean frontage offers man acceptable sites for the placement of nuclear generation plants.

Once installed and in operation these plants are clean, non-polluting, capable of being environmentally landscaped and operated.

The presence of unlimited quantities of ocean water for cooling is critically important. Continuous monitoring of the San Onofre plant off-shore environment has revealed no adverse impact. Quite the opposite, the ocean environment has improved giving hope for beneficial propagation of sea life as a major food source.

Economic Importance

The cooling of a nuclear plant with ocean water in an area devoid of a local water supply is of tremendous economic importance. Further, a source of economical nuclear power to operate pumping water facilities, will also result in some control of the continuing increase in the cost of importing water. Since the outset of the energy crisis, pumping costs have more than doubled as a result of the enormous increased cost of imported oil.

The safety record of the nuclear power industry, the proven economy of nuclear power generation and the ability to use ocean water as a low cost coolant and finally, the capability of building and creating an aesthetic environment around a nuclear plant seem to be overpowering arguments for expanded nuclear power generation along San Diego County's shoreline.

We would hope that a thinking majority will support nuclear power generation and defeat the upcoming referendum to abolish nuclear power generation.

U.S. Retirement Bonds On Sale

The U. S. Department of the Treasury has placed on sale U. S. Individual Retirement Bonds. They are specifically designed for investment by persons who lack coverage by any other retirement plan. The Bonds are issued pursuant to the provisions of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974.

They are sold at face value in denominations of $50, $100 and $500. Interest accrues at the rate of six percent per year compounded semiannually, and is payable upon redemption.

Individual Retirement Bonds may be purchased from any Federal Reserve Bank or may be cashed, with a tax penalty, until the owner reaches age 59½, after which the Bonds may be redeemed without penalty.

The Bonds may, however, be cashed without penalty, at any time until maturity, for the purpose of changing investments. In addition, they may be cashed without penalty before age 59½, in cases of disability.

Maturity date is the first day of the month in which the Bond-owner reaches age 70½, or five years after the date of the owner's death, whichever is earlier.

Both principal and interest are reportable for federal income tax purposes, at time of redemption or maturity.

Complete regulations covering the Individual Retirement Bond may be found in Treasury Department Circular, Public Debt Series 1-75.
